First, let me say thank you to all of our club members for their words of support as I dealt with cancer this past year. The treatments are over, the hair is returning, and the recovery is well on its way. A public thank you to my husband for the many trips to treatment, the store, and just dealing with all my issues. Love you, now what's for dinner?

So glad there was a cruise this weekend to celebrate the Mustang birthday. Covid is still impacting some of our events and it is always a little up in the air as to what will get to happen and what will not. Regardless, we probably all know that this is the 57th year of the Mustang and it is still going strong. For those new or perhaps younger Mustang owners, it may be worth a trip to YouTube to check out the introduction of the Mustang in 1964. The teacher in me will provide you with a few guiding questions to help you focus:

1. What is the significance of April 17 to the Mustang? (besides it being my birthday)
2. Who made the first purchase of a Mustang and when was it made? (be careful, check the wording of this question) Bonus—what color was it and where is it now?)
3. Where was the first Mustang advertisement shot and how did the car get to the location?
4. Why is the first generation of Mustangs referred to as a 1964 1/2?
5. What was the base price of a Mustang when it first came out?

Those should get you started if you don't already have all the answers. Personally, my 2nd car was a pewter gray Mustang with a red interior. It was my first car after trading in my pink, early 60s Buick Special and my first new car.

The month of May will still have us meeting on Zoom, but let us hope that in June we can set aside the computers and see each other in person for our meeting. Stay tuned for the alerts.

*Life is always an adventure
Let's enjoy the ride together*

Charity Involvement

2021 Charity Running Total

EFN (Oct)

that you want to attract!

April Emergency Food Network

How much horsepower does it take to re-bag 3550 pounds of rice? Apparently, 11.

We scooped and carried and sealed and boxed and told jokes and there may have been a prank or two. I kept trying to figure out who was throwing rice at me until I figured out it was my own doing.

This is always an enjoyable morning as we repackage food and various other items for the Emergency Food Network who then distributes it to Food Banks in our local area.

Our next EFN opportunity is in October. We can't wait to see what that brings.

LeMay America's Car Museum Reopens

Another sign that things are beginning to turn around for the positive, our museums are reopening!!!!!!

It is hard to believe that it has been a year. ACM actually opened for a bit last year and then closed again. April 2nd, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday marked the re-reopening from 10 to 5 (4:30 last entrance).

Paul and I went on the 2nd and as always, there were new cars and familiar friends to see including in the Saleen exhibit.

You will have to go for yourself to identify these beauties.

This last one is a Maxwell. True restoration of the first car driven across the US by a woman. This one went across on the same route just a few years ago driven by a woman from Washington State. Get the story at ACM.

Storage in the spare is a hat box! Really!!!

It was great to see that the Ford was following protocols!

There was a beautiful DeSoto.

Mustang of the Month

Bryon Tudor

2013 School Bus Yellow Boss 302 and 1967 Wimbledon White Coupe

This all started with a Magazine left in my explorer around 2011 Showing the 2012 Boss 302 by a friend of mine. About a year later I was looking for a new 2013 Boss 302. I found one and bought it in September 2012, the start of another fun hobby.

Around 2015 my girl friend's sister, Holly, had a 1967 Mustang that had been parked in her mother's garage for 20 years . Holly told her sister that I could have her 1967 Mustang. On April of 2016 Mr. Craig Wick came with his trailer, loaded my 1967 Mustang into the trailer, and stored it until August 2016 when a ground up restoration started.

I wanted a Mustang with new car reliability so the build started when a Detroit Speed front and rear suspension was installed along with second generation Coyote, Dakota Digital gauges, Vintage Air, disc brakes, Tremec six speed manual transmission.

The fun never ends while driving both Mustangs. I still have the magazine my friend Doug left in my Explorer and he never felt remorse for his decision.

Past Events

Daffodil Parade

April 10, 2021

A big thank you to the Daffodil Festival for inviting our club to be a part of this unique celebration of the communities we live in. Although the parade part was turned around this year with the viewers driving through the displays and floats rather than the floats going through the streets, it was still fun to be part of the festivities and we saved gas and no one dropped their clutch.

Another big thank you to our members who were able to decorate their Stangs and join the fun. We did just the one day of a 10 day Spring Fair & Daffodil Festival event.

There were 5 cars for the first shift, 4 for the second, and 4 for the third. Our cars were there from 9 am until about 8:30 pm. One brave car was there for all three groups. Thank you Jerry and Kathy Murphy for your commitment to represent the club all day.

Besides the Murphys, we had Paul and Heidi Geise, Burt Kriedler, Cory Bevis, Deborah and Brian Meskell, Laurie and Steve Howe, Hank Deck, Missy Willert and Clay Concannon, Pete and Nancy Freeman, and Robert Brown. Thank you to all.

We really had a prime location from my point of view. We were right next to the Pavilion where there were bathrooms and right in the middle of all the fair food. What more could an enthusiastic Mustang owner want in a spring parade—park your car, bathrooms nearby, and food all around you. The longest walk was to the scones. You will have to ask Burt just how long it was. I think I saw 4 bags that he came back with and I figured that was all there was. Thank you for saving me the calories, Burt.

National Mustang Day Cruises April 18:

A Different Kind of Horse Power

Organized and Submitted by Hank & Margie Deck

Museum Staff and Nancy Freeman, Laurie Howe, and Heidi Geise

To celebrate 2021 National Mustang Day, 29 members of the Pierce County Mustang Club, including three new members who joined on the spot, cruised to the Northwest Carriage Museum in Raymond, WA, on Saturday, April 18, for an enjoyable step back in time look at a varied collection of restored horse-drawn carriages.

Executive Director Laurie Bowman, curator Jerry Bowman and their team organized an informative and entertaining program about the 58 19th-century horse-drawn carriages on display in the museum, including several original vehicles that were used in movie classics from the early 1900's. As he led the tour, Mr. Bowman explained how many of the technologies of the carriages were carried over to automobile production and how the related terminology still exists in the auto world today.

The warm sunny day proved to be a treat, along with club sponsored plusses: drivers received National Mustang Day window stickers, conveniently attached to a bag of mini-candy bars, prior to the cruise, and ten attendees won free admittance to the Museum via a club raffle. The cruise was organized by Hank and Margie Deck.

A Few Words from Club Members

Well here we are with the second installation from our members. Hope you are enjoying the stories and the food. If others want to contribute, just send your ideas my way.

Paul Geise: The Band—Part 3:

The next band was “Thrust”. We had a new singer (surprise – surprise) Bruce. He was from New York and was actually a pretty good singer. We also had a new drummer, Perry, who was from Spokane. Perry was a very good drummer (his bass drum was a converted parade drum!...Yes ... that’s BIG!) plus he could sing. I bought an old Dodge van and we still had the “borrowed” U-Haul.

On our way from a gig in Minot, N.D. (where the motel had a sign not to drink the water and the water that came out of the shower was brown) to Casper, WY, we took a shorter route on the map as opposed to the Interstate. It looked like a good road and it was...except for the “SEVERE SIDE WINDS” sign. They were correct. The winds started whipping the trailer back & forth. Eventually, so much so, that I could actually read, in the side mirrors, the words “U-Haul-UHaul-Uhaul” that were on the side of the trailer!! The van got to rocking so hard that it woke everyone. Perry, who was on the floor asleep, looked up, saw the trailer, said “OH MY GOD!” and laid back down...I assume to pray...but I never asked. It was pretty scary! We finally made it to Casper. This gig had included rooms, also. The rooms were actually a small house. We thought-cool! Until, we noticed that three or four windows were completely broken out. Seeing this was winter, we decided we needed to stay somewhere else. We played 2 or 3 nights at the club when the owner came in (drunk on her keester) and fired us and everyone else in the club. This was the only time we ever got fired.

We played a lot at a club in Salt Lake City called the “Castile”. There were a lot of “firsts” at the Castile. First (and only) time I was in tear gas, first (not the only) time I had a gun pulled on me (by a drunk at very close range), first time I had the worm gear in the steering column break just before getting on the freeway (watching the steering wheel just spinning around on its own is rather unnerving). OH, and best of all... being able to look directly into the girls bathroom (whenever the door opened) from the stage (also unnerving, but thrilling...at times).

The tear gas episode happened on Halloween night at The Castile. 2 or 3 weeks before, someone had fire bombed a club called “The City Dump”. I think someone died and there were several injuries, so everyone was a little nervous. On Halloween night, the club (Castile) was packed...

absolutely jammed. It was so full we could hardly get off the stage (which was only about a foot high) during breaks. During one song a girl dancing in front of the stage (very inebriated) tripped and fell on the guitar players pedals. She was having trouble getting back up what with her “condition”, her blouse open, her ample chest exposed to all, & a VERY pissed-off guitar player kicking her in the head! “Hey Steve...relax and see the sights!” That was the upside to the night...well that & the girls bathroom door was almost constantly open...YOWZA!

Around our 3rd set, the bouncer came up to me, asked us to stop playing, & announce that there was a problem at the front door and that everyone should leave out the back until the all clear. He said there was smoke at the entrance and they weren’t sure what it was. (I didn’t announce that part) I stopped the band and announced over our P.A. “Could I have your attention please...there is some trouble up front and we need to have you ALL exit behind the stage” So everyone, having drank a bit, immediately rushed to the front!! What happened was, someone tossed a military grade tear gas canister in the entryway and now everyone was walking into the gas cloud. I’m sure a lot of them had the “City Dump” episode on their mind. We (the band) and a few others went out the back. The drummer and I went back in to make sure everyone had gotten out, and sure enough we found a couple people so drunk they were almost passed out. So, we got them out. Tear gas is NASTY stuff, I had no idea! The fire dept. & police arrived to people crying and moaning in agony & throwing up all over the place. Whoever did it must have had some big keholes , because he tossed another one under the fire truck!! Needless to say that ended our night & the next. The fire department put huge fans in the club to help blow that stuff out. We went back the 3rd night & played 1 set but couldn’t go on as the fumes were still so bad.

So that is my life on the road with a Rock & Roll band...and then I married a school administrator and so much for the fun.
